

Celebrating Independence

The Fourth of July is just around the corner and it's time for the 22nd annual Independence Day Parade. A fun and family-centered celebration of our country's liberty has become a tradition of many in the Farragut and West Knoxville communities. Beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, July 4 at Farragut High School and traveling down Lendon Welch Way, the parade travels down Kingston Pike ending at Boring Road ... where the old Ingles grocery store once stood.

Keith Meese of the Prestige Group said that his family and their Sunday school class have been attending the parade for the past eight years.

"We get there early, set up our chairs, have breakfast together and just enjoy the festivities, he said. "It's become our tradition and something that we look forward to every year."

The Town of Farragut is accepting registration forms for businesses and community organizations to participate in the parade. The deadline for accepting these forms is Thursday June 25 or until they have reached the capacity of 95 entries. The Town especially encourages musical groups and bands to participate along with antique cars, floats and entertainment.

The Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce will be participating in the parade and member businesses interested in "marching" with office staff and distributing business information to parade attendees may call the office at 675-7057. To register as a participant with the Town of Farragut visit the Web site at www.townoffarragut.org or call Arleen Higginbotham at 966-7057.

Republican Senator Tim Burchett will be the key speaker at the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce Speaker Series Breakfast at 7:30 a.m., Tuesday, July 21 at Fox Den Country Club. Burchett, who announced his candidacy in November of last year, was the first to enter the 2010 race for Knox County Mayor. His senate term also expires in 2010. Three components in Burchett's platform are; the condition of Knox County Schools, safe streets and keeping taxes low. Cost for the Speaker Series Breakfast, which is a full hot buffet, is $25 for members and $35 for non-members and reservations can be made by calling the Chamber office at 675-7057 or e-mailing Judy@farragutchamber.com. Sponsorships for the breakfast are available. Call the office for more information.

The Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce would like to thank First Utility District of Knox County (FUD) for being a Community sponsor for the "Hometown USA" annual auction and dinner and Charity Auction Volunteers (CAV), which is a volunteer group that specialize in computerized auction checkout including auction inventory, bid management and patron checkout for assisting the auction committee with an extremely smooth checkout process.

New Member Orientation hosted by the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce at Farragut Town Hall

Heather and Heath McKeenan of Athens Insurance Company attended the New Member Orientation hosted by the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce at Farragut Town Hall Tuesday May 12. The orientation which takes place twice annually gives new members an overview of the benefits of being a member of the Chamber. Ambassadors and chamber members donate door prizes and promotional items and each attendee leaves with a goodie bag as well as a wealth of information to help their business achieve success.

Farragut Mayor Ralph McGill welcomed the new members of the Farragut West Knox Chamber of Commerce during the New Member Orientation. This is the first orientation that the mayor has attended since being elected in April. Mayor McGill told the Chamber members a bit about his background and business experience and said that he welcomes any insight that they have had with regard to doing business in Farragut. The mayor then offered the members time for questions and answers.

President Quotes 'n Notes

by Betty Sisco

Just in the mood for other thoughts... WORDS TO LIVE BY. If You Dare...

Don't cry because it's over; smile because it happened.

Accept that some days you're the pigeon, and some days you're the statue.

Always keep your words soft and sweet, just in case you have to eat them.

Drive carefully. It's not only cars that can be recalled by their maker.

Eat a live toad in the morning and nothing worse will happen to you for the rest of the day.

Never buy a car you can't push.

Never put both feet in your mouth at the same time, because then you don't have a leg to stand on.

Nobody cares if you can't dance well. Just get up and dance.

The early worm gets eaten by the bird, so sleep late.

When everything's coming your way, you're in the wrong lane.

Birthdays are good for you; the more you have, the longer you live.

I was never over-weight, just under-tall. The correct height for my weight at the moment is seven feet ten and a half inches. - Brendan Grace

Some mistakes are too much fun to only make once.

We could learn a lot from crayons: some are sharp, some are pretty, some are dull, some have weird names, and all are different colors but they all have to learn to live in the same box.

A truly happy person is one who can enjoy the scenery on a detour.

Happiness comes through doors you didn't even know you left open.

To plant a garden is to live for tomorrow.

The lesson is in the struggle, not in the victory!

Sticks and stones are hard on bones, aimed with angry art words can sting like anything, but silence breaks the heart... Phyllis Megenlee

When you reach the end of your rope, tie a knot in it and hang on. -- Thomas Jefferson

If you want to live a happy life, tie it to a goal, not to people or things."

If you ever crawl inside an old hollow log and go to sleep, and while you're in there some guys come and seal up both ends and then put it on a truck and take it to another city, boy, I don't know what to tell you. - Jack Handey

Cycling Through Tough Times

Judy Briody

Stay-cation... a period of time in which a family or individual stays home or takes day trips to area attractions. This "buzz" word has been tossed around lately as families are facing higher gas prices and less disposable income; but what better way to combat these tough times and get some fresh air and exercise than leaving the SUV in the garage and bicycling to and from local attractions.

West Bicycles, located at 11531 Kingston Pike, in the Village Green Shopping Center in Farragut is a terrific place to hatch your plan. Fares and his staff are dedicated to the "sport of cycling and all that it encompasses." Whether you are a beginner or a seasoned cyclist, West offers custom bike fittings, $5 life-time tune ups with the purchase of a new bicycle, complete over-hauls where the bike is disassembled cleaned and lubed as well as a fully stocked clothing, accessory and shoe department. West also participates in "shop rides," and cyclists of all levels are encouraged to participate. An upcoming ride is the Jailbreak 100 to be held Saturday, July 18th. Riders depart from the bike shop at 6:45 a.m. and travel toward Brushy Mountain Penitentiary. Fares said, "This is a beautiful area to ride. The route is marked. The roads are marked and there are rest stops along the way."

The Jailbreak ride is free of charge this year, but Fares noted that donations are always accepted. Monies collected from this race will be given to the Philadelphia Prison Ministry. So, gather the family and head to West Bicycles... the cyclists' gathering place. For more information, call 671-7591 or visit www.westbicycles.com.

A Week of Past is Key to Future

by Joe Andrews

Joe Andrews

Last month's column discussed the importance of categorizing what takes up your time. Look back on a recent work week and decide how much of your time has been spent...

1) Putting out fires. An unexpected phone call. A necessary report that should have been printed yesterday. A missing file that should be on your desk. For most people, this is a negative category that drains their energy and interferes with their productivity.

2) Dealing with interruptions. Phone calls and people dropping by your office will probably top the list when you're assigning events to this category. Once again, for most people, this is a negative category because it interferes with (and sometimes kills) productivity.

3) Doing planned tasks. This is the most positive use of time during your work day. You are in control and accomplishing what you intended to accomplish. Planned tasks can include phone calls, meetings with staff, even answering email.

4) Working uninterrupted. You may not be working on a task you had planned to do, but you are getting to accomplish something, and for most people, this is a very productive, positive work mode.

5) Uninterrupted downtime. Those times during the work day that are used to re-energize and regroup. Lunch or a mid-morning break may count IF they're uninterrupted. If you're lucky enough to work with a company that offers on-site work-out facilities or nap rooms, that would count, too. Everyone needs a certain amount of uninterrupted downtime built into their day to be productive during their work time.

Using whatever calendar system you use for listing appointments and activities in your daily life, go back and select a recent typical week. Collect your data and make the changes to the way you spend time at work. If you are spending too much time putting out fires, you need to get more organized and establish a routine that makes your day run smoother. If you are not getting enough uninterrupted time, build it in. Physically leave the office for your stipulated time. Putting these ideas into action will help you to effectively manage your time better and in the long run, make you feel better.
